The dog when riding on trains generally lies by the feet of the baggage man or else stretches himself in the corner for a nap, and when he gets ready barks to get off at some station. Dr. A. E. Isaacs, Secretary, and Dr. matter at what station Dewey alights," said Miss Hughes, "he can Abram Bmothers, Chairman of the Aralights," said Miss Hughes, "he can always find his way home. He is a most remarkable dog in that way. He is never satisfied unless he is travelling. He is five years old now, and most of nis life he has spent in riding on express trains. He appears to know just ministering it, Sept. 1.

A feature of the meeting will be Dr. Einhorn's report on the new typhold fever serum with which he and House Physician Hirsch achieved thirty cures and no failures since they began administering it, Sept. 1.

An abmelance was summoned from

"Adams Express Agent Grant, who lives here, goes to Port Chester daily, and the dog's fondness for travel is probably due to the fact that when he first learned to ride on trains, Mr. Grant usedt o take him to Port Chester with him. The dog went down to Harrison Saturday on the Adams Evpress special and then he got off and boarded another train for New York. "One day when the Shore Line express went through Rye, I saw Dewey sitting in the express car door, and when he saw me he barked." Miss Hughes went on her vacation last summer and left Dewey home. He followed her trunk to the station and laid on it for twenty-four hours as a guard and then even went to New York to see that it got there safely. Frequently the dog boards a freight engine at Harlem and the engineers always stop their engines to put Dewey off at Rye. If they don't, he keeps up a continual barking until the train stops at some station. Barks When He Sees Mistress.
